

VACATION PLANNING

This might be a good time to say a few well-chosen words about Alabama.

By proclamation of Governor Wallace this is "Vacation Planning Week", and we are sure that right now, around the country, there are thousands of people planning vacations that will bring them to or through Alabama. We hope they all come. As the Governor said in his proclamation, we have the attractions and facilities here to make their stay "a delightful experience".

Most of these people, of course, are outside our circulation area, yet we suspect that not all the people reading this newspaper have seen every major tourist attraction in this state. To those people, then, this suggestion: In addition to your regular vacation trip this year, why not arrange a number of weekend trips to visit some of this state's interesting attractions? In this fashion, you and your family will have the pleasure of not one but several vacations.

Here are just a few suggestions of places in Alabama you might enjoy visiting or revisiting this year. Fort Morgan and Fort Gaines on the Gulf, Mound State Monument Museum at Moundville, Horse Shoe Bend at Dadeville, State Capital at Montgomery, Mooreville Post Office in Mooreville, Gunter's Boat Races in Gunter's, one of the state's beautiful parks located throughout Alabama. Wind Creek Park in Alexander City, Ave Maria Grotto near Cullman and dozens more. In fact there are eighty-seven major tourist attractions and events in Alabama. A tour guide is available with the complete list and pictures from your State Bureau of Publicity and Information in Montgomery. It is free so why not write for it.

This list is far from a complete one, but it gives some idea of some of the attractive places to visit in Alabama.

Include one or all of them in your vacation plans this year. You'll enjoy the experience, and you'll come home a better person for one of the better states in the Union.

ALABAMA'S BEACHES
Alabama's beaches are calling, and the call becomes louder as the sun gets hotter. Motorists will head south during the next several months and many will find their way to Gulf Shores and the inviting white sands of Pleasure

Island. Crystal-clear Gulf waves breaking over the sand are hard to resist. For this and other reasons more and more Alabama travelers are staying right in their own state and finding all the pleasures of Gulf coast vacationing in South Baldwin County. Perhaps its most promising asset, along with natural beauty, sun and sand, is the fact that a vacation of moderate means will feel right at home. The cottages, motels and restaurants are very reasonable.

Some of the places you can visit include the Inter-coastal Canal, right in the heart of Gulf Shores; Alabama Point with its exciting fishing, playing poppoes, and some of the most beautiful water to be seen anywhere. For fishing and water sports there is fresh water lake at Gulf State Park.

Of interest will be temperature averages at Gulf Shores. According to the U.S. Weather Bureau the average for May, June, July and August runs from a low of 73.3 degrees to 82.3 degrees. With a fresh breeze blowing constantly from across the Gulf these are very comfortable temperatures.

For the historically minded there is old Fort Morgan where you can spend several hours touring the "cradle of American History". A weekend or a week spent in South Baldwin County will be enjoyed by every member of the family.

Poppy Sale Slated By Auxiliary

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion will distribute Poppies on Friday and Saturday, May 21 and 22.

The Poppy says, "I am only a crepe paper replica of my famous ancestor in France, the poppy of Flanders Fields, which took root and bloomed in raw earth of battlefields, providing nature's floral tribute to the heroic dead. I was born in a veterans' hospital. I am considered the memorial flower of the entire English-speaking world, and since World War I, I have been worn annually on Poppy Day as a symbol of remembrance, and to raise funds for the aid of disabled veterans and the children of veterans. I have helped brighten the lives of thousands of disabled veterans, as well as enabling them to send money home to their families."

Yes, the Poppy could go on speaking. Yes, Americans wear these memorial Poppies as proof to the world that she keeps faith with the principles for which these men fought and died.

The first annual horse show, sponsored by the local American Legion Post, was a rip roaring success according to the chairman, Irvin Johnson, and Commander Lloyd Fuller.

The horses started their parade before the judges at three o'clock Saturday afternoon and continued until after ten o'clock Saturday night.

The money made from the concession stand and from the entry fees will be applied to some of the worthy projects supported by the Legion, according to Commander Fuller and Ted Prescott, treasurer.

There were many horses entered from Coffee County and surrounding counties and entries from as far away as Georgia and Florida-pleasure riders and perfectionists.

Those who missed this event should make plans now for the next one in '66. The show was climaxed by the presentation of the high point trophy, presented by Miss Carol Proctor, to the rider amassing the most points during the show. Joan Whigham, twelve year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Whigham, of Enterprise, riding "Al Adams", was the winner.

PIONEERS For TOMORROW

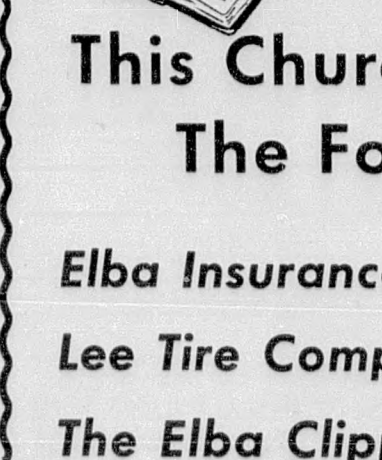

Pioneers are as plentiful today as ever... indeed, in this world of ever-new frontiers, you too, are a pioneer.

As such, you bear great responsibility. For defined, a pioneer is one who goes before, preparing the way for others to follow.

The Church reaches out to you in greatest urgency. It needs you to help, by example and precept, combat the greed and intolerance that today threaten our world.

The Church needs you as another pioneer in Christian example and thinking. You can help prepare the way for others by promoting generosity, kindness, and love toward all other human beings.

Through the Church you can, as a pioneer, strive most effectively toward generous, tolerant tomorrows for your fellowmen.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL; ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm NEWS

BY TOM CASADAY, CO. AGENT

Doctor Wallace Miller, Chairman of the State Milk Control Board, and Phillip Martin, President of the American Dairy Association of Alabama, were among the prominent guests at the Farmers' Day program held in Montgomery last week.

Both of these men are outstanding Coffee County leaders. It is a real pleasure for us in the county and home agents offices to work with these outstanding men.

Martin reminded the group in Montgomery that milk is among the best food buys. I am sure that Phillip and the Dairy Association will get their June Dairy Month campaign underway soon.

Several folks misunderstood an article in this column a week or so ago concerning the Damascus Community water system. In my column, I simply pointed out that the average farm water system counting all costs, depreciation, repairs, etc. would average about $100 per year. I understand that some of the folks in Damascus thought that I was referring to their proposed community water system. However, I was not referring to that system.

ing to their system. I understand that the facts on the proposed system in the Damascus Community will be known shortly. John W. Stephens is heading this program up and has done a lot of hard work. Contact him if you have questions regarding this program.

What a wonderful opportunity Coffee County farmers have had this week to side-dress corn with nitrogen. We have some beautiful corn and all that it is going to take from now on is enough nitrogen and enough water. You can supply the nitrogen and eliminate that risk.

Some of our farmers are having trouble getting stands. In fact, we have had quite a bit of trouble in getting and keeping good stands of cotton. This is one reason it is always desirable to get corn, cotton, and peanuts planted and up in April if possible. About 9 years out of 10, they get ready to go in late April and May.

A chemical company representative, representing Coffee County, told me the other day that he would be glad to check corn yields this fall where chemicals had been used to control weeds and grass. This reminds me that Barnett might help the Enterprise Chamber of Commerce President O. I. Cunningham and some of our good farmers in checking yields of the 48 farmers who have entered the Chamber of Commerce corn contest.

The Coffee County Cattlemen's Association met the other night and planned their feeder calf sale for sometime in early August. They have also planned a special educational meeting to be held early in June. The members will be contacted about this later. I understand that this meeting will include some good food and fellowship as well as "cow talk."

Now that school will be out in a few days, a lot of boys and girls in the county will be going swimming at ponds, lakes, and streams in Coffee County. I would like to remind all Coffee County young people and parents, too, to be extremely careful in water. I have a great respect for water and I am sure that all parents will want to instruct their children on

FARM AND 4-H Round-Up

By H. H. Thompson, Asst. Co. Agent

I reported the District 4-H Club Speaking Contest at the Chamber of Commerce President O. I. Cunningham and some of our good farmers in checking yields of the 48 farmers who have entered the Chamber of Commerce corn contest.

Interest in the organization of a Coffee County Hog Producers Association is high at the present time. You will be hearing more about this in the near future. I would like to pass along some management suggestions. (1) Avoid baby pig anemia by giving them iron shots at 3 days of age. (2) Keep the pen temperature constant. (3) Keep the sow's feeding ration to prevent digestive upsets in little pigs.

Last week I visited several peanut fields where chemical weed control had been used. The results run anywhere from fair to good. In many cases, it might pay dividends to use a row rotary hoe to help get the small grass out of the drills if you failed to get good control. It will not hurt to cultivate as long as you do not move dirt in or out of the treated band. In other words, it does not weaken the chemical to break the band.

Virginia Sanders, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent, and I sent out letters last week to all the 4-H Club members in the county regarding summer camp. The camp will be held June 3, 4, and 5 at Camp Alabama near Prattville.

The cost of the camp is $12 for each camper. This includes transportation, insurance, meals, and lodging. We would like to receive the registrations as early as possible. Let's get them in this week--they will be accepted on a "first come, first served" basis.

If the figures from the wiregrass area are any indication, there will be plenty of good, fresh Alabama Vegetables in the markets soon.

Local Post Office Requests Farmers' Help

Postmaster Robert Cooper has requested farmers in his delivery area to help in an important survey. This survey, Alabama's June 1 Livestock Survey, will be conducted jointly by the Post Office Department and the Department of Agriculture.

Each rural and star route carrier working out of the local Post Office will place a June 1 Livestock Survey Card in the box of a sample of farmers on his route. Farmers who receive one of these cards are asked to furnish the information requested and return it to the mailbox.

Completed livestock cards will be forwarded to the State Agricultural Statistician, George B. Strong in Montgomery. Mr. Strong's office will bring together cards from all sections of the State to develop indications of livestock and poultry inventories and levels of production.

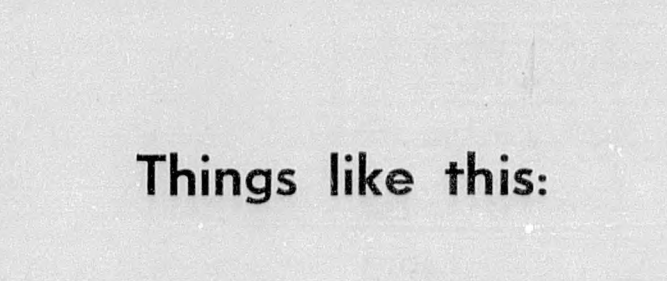

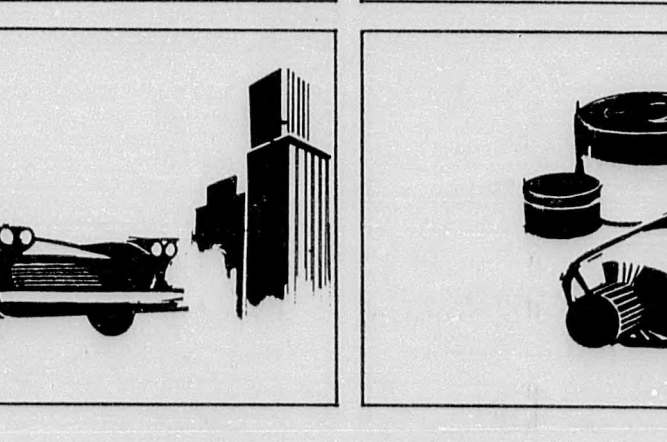

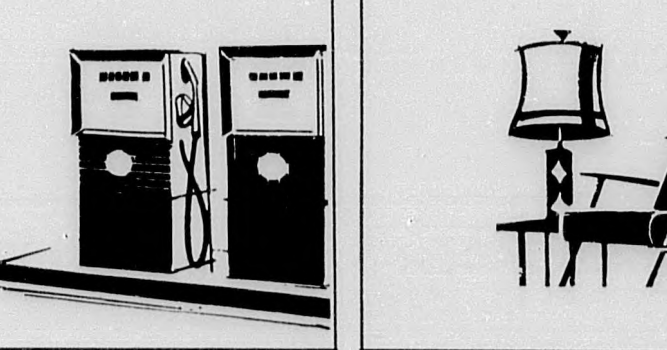

The June 1 Livestock Survey develops vital information about the State's largest sources of agricultural income--livestock and poultry. In 1964, Alabama farmers received $189.6 million from poultry and $109 million from sale of meat animals, and $43.9 million from dairy products. Receipts from the sale of livestock and poultry have commercial vegetables were planted this year--an increase of 30 per cent over 1964.

Volume movement from the area is expected to begin May 25 and will continue until late July. Biggest acreage is expected for watermelons--5,000 acres--followed by southern peas with 5,000; tomatoes, 2,500; and bush lima beans, 1,200.

One rotten fruit in the orchard can provide enough disease organisms to destroy the whole crop.

Estimates indicate that each dollar of wealth taken from the soil generates seven dollars of income throughout the economy.

THE 1964 RURAL ELECTRIC PAYROLL OF $5,295,240.00 bought a lot of things--like gas and oil, automobiles, furniture and appliances, food and drugs, clothes and the like.

Healthy Alabama payrolls like this give progress in the state a big push, making your job more secure. Let's keep it that way!

inventories are a must. If your farm is selected for this year's survey, both Postmaster Cooper and Mr. Strong urge you to complete your card and return it promptly.

Results of the livestock survey will be issued to all news media and to individuals who request them. Farmers, whose co-five dollars Alabama farmers receive from farm marketings, using the information in inventory periodically and planning their own production with a business as large and the State's agriculture.

Inadvertently the names of these five young men were omitted from the Boy's State article in last week's Clipper. They are left to right: Larry Jacobs, Lewey Stephens Jr., Billy Mall, Joel Inman and Butch Oggs.

They will attend Boy's State at Auburn during the week of June 6. Boy's State is sponsored and supervised by the American Legion to instill a better understanding of our "American Way" of government of the people, by the people and for the people.

The sponsors this year are Rotary Club, Sawyer Candy Company, Coffee County Board of Commissioners, The Elba Clipper, each sponsoring one boy, and the other sponsorship is divided between Nasco, Quality Farmers Supply and Modern Beauty Shop.

afternoon there was "Mr. Night" waiting for it and the call Tiger making an effort to get in through the small opening. A small top opening was left in the other car that night and when I started to work Tuesday morning there they were again inside the car. Really, I don't see how they manage to get in where they do but that is the only way I can see that they could climb in, Tuesday morning I was beginning to think I was seeing things or perhaps that black cat was a magician or some weird creature of some kind wearing the skin of a cat?

PIG TALK. Just about everyone has heard of pig Latin. But probably few of us realize how much pig talk there is in everyday language.

The American Meat Institute has assembled a lengthy list of colorful words and phrases that pay tribute to a nation of speaking, to the hog. Here are some of them:

"Starting high off the hog" - an old expression stemming from the fact that the most desirable cuts come from the upper section of the animal.

DISMALS WONDER GARDENS

"Time seems to stand still," This was the response of one visitor to Dismals Wonder Gardens located near Phil Campbell in Franklin County. The Dismals has been said to have a strange effect on visitors which no one is able to describe. Many say it is like being in a Cathedral, others say it is like traveling ten thousand years into the past when trees and springs were untouched by human hands.

No matter how it strikes you, Dismals Wonder Gardens is sure to interest anyone who travels there. It is a wild, natural sunken garden blooming amid beautiful rock formations and waterfalls in one of the East's oldest undisturbed climatic forests. Waterfalls, nature trails, swimming, picnicking and camping are all available at Dismals Gardens.

Cotton Loan Program Changes Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently announced changes in the cotton loan program to make the program more convenient for cotton producers and buyers and less costly to the Commodity Credit Corporation. The changes are procedural in nature rather than in program objectives. The changes are based on favorable experiences under other price-support programs. Beginning with the 1965 crop of cotton, all loans except those to approved cotton cooperative marketing associations will be disbursed solely by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service county offices rather than through leading agencies or county offices as in the past.

Loan documents may be prepared by approved loan clerks located at banks, offices of cotton buyers, cotton gins, warehouses and other locations as necessary for convenience of producers or by county ASC offices. Loans will be disbursed by issuance of CCC loan drafts which may be held by commercial banks, production credit associations, and certain other financial institutions as interest bearing instruments.

This will make it possible for producers and persons who purchase loan receipts to redeem cotton from the loan easier and quicker because redemptions can be accomplished at county offices. This should result in an increase in loan redemptions, smaller quantities of loan cotton finding its way into Government inventories at loan maturity and therefore a reduction in Government costs. In the past custody of all loan documents has been maintained at the ASCS Commodity Office in New Orleans, La.

The amount of loans made under the new procedure will be reduced by the amount of any warehouse receiving charges due on the cotton if such charges have not been prepaid. This change is in keeping with cotton trade practices and will greatly facilitate loan making. In cases where the receiving charges have not been prepaid and the cotton is not redeemed from the loan, CCC will pay the receiving charges directly to the warehouse when the warehouse storage charges are paid.

No changes are expected in procedures for making Form G loans to approved cooperative marketing associations of cotton producers, except where they will not be required to prepay warehouse receiving charges in order to obtain loans on their members' cotton. Such charges will be handled the same as for Form A loans made to producers.

Agriculture is the nation's largest industry. It employs 12 times as many people as the steel industry.

Elba To Erect New School Buildings In Near Future

Elba continues to go forward. At the request of the Elba City School Board last Monday night at the regular meeting of the City Council, the City agreed to sell bonds against the city gasoline tax to build a new elementary school and to build an auditorium-gymnasium combination for the Mulberry Heights Elementary School. The new building program will be at an approximate cost of one-half million dollars. The vote of the Council was unanimous.

The new elementary school will be located on property already obtained for that purpose on the Mulberry Road just a few blocks from the main business district.

School bonds will be sold for the building of the new elementary school. Funds for the building of the auditorium-gymnasium and repairs to elementary schools will be from the State Bond issues recently approved by the State Legislature while in special session.

No new taxes will be necessary in carrying out this program, according to statements from the City Fathers and the School Board. The gasoline tax has been going to the schools for years.

The new high school at Mulberry Heights was completed in January, 1963 at an approximate cost of one hundred thousand dollars. The high school is located adjoining the Mulberry Heights Elementary School which will undergo repairs.

The new auditorium at Mulberry Heights is being designed to seat approximately 600 students with the gymnasium combination consisting of dressing rooms for physical education classes and activities.

Approximately 1,025 students are attending the Elba Elementary and High School and approximately 580 students attend Mulberry Heights. Mulberry Heights has one of the most complete science rooms to be found in any Alabama school.

Junior Colleges Keep Cost Down

One of the great advantages of junior colleges is their relatively low cost for both the taxpayers and students. Junior colleges are usually less expensive for the taxpayer than other colleges and universities because junior colleges do not normally require dormitories, research facilities, and expensive professional and graduate programs.

Junior colleges are usually less expensive for students because the tuition is low and because students can live at home and avoid having to pay expensive room and board costs. Furthermore, it is frequently easier for students to obtain part-time jobs in their home communities to help finance their education, whereas good jobs in a university town may be scarce.
